

The Magic Door by Henry Enwerem

I opened the magic door and saw...
An appetising lasagne
Hugging my taste buds
Like a mother hugging a long lost child.

I opened the magic door and saw...
The breath-taking savannah giving shelter
Like a generous neighbour

I opened the magic door and saw...
The overwhelming galaxy
Hiding secrets beyond my reach
Like a mysterious shadow walking in darkness.

I opened the magic door and saw...
A crystal-clear river
Flowing through the forest
Like the mane of a majestic horse flowing in the breeze.

I opened the magic door and saw...
Mouth-watering cookies
Whispering to each other
Like trees swaying in a gentle wind.

I opened the magic door and saw...
Heaven.
